Wladom is better than strength," says Solomon, who was recknued a wise man in his day, when strength was more in estimation than it is now. In dealing with this rebellion, this mexim seems entirely forgotten.

The formation of a sectional party, the whole power of which was defined by a geographical line, bent upon an le epressible con flict with an opposite section, was a dangerous experiment against which the Father of his Country had nitered the most solemn warnirg. It was, in fact, an attempt of one part of the Union to govern the whole, regardless of the feelings, sentiments and wishes of the other. This sectional party movement was partial'y successful, owing to an emposite the Union. Here was the occasion for the exercise of that wisdom and forbearance so necessary in government. The Government of England understands the necessity of concession to popular discontent. Her history abounds with examples where, to avoid dangers to the empire, ministers and parties gave up cherished opinious, and yielded to measures gracefully for the sake of peace. Compromise after compromise has been the ealvailon of the British empire. Diguity is a great stair in England; but her ministers hav often sacrificed consistency and all notions of dignity to the necessities of a peaceable

Well, in 1861, there was a season demanding compromise and concession. States men would have resorted to it if they had possess- el army is falling to pieces. We have read ed any forecast. Great struggles were made for it, but ambitious partisans would yield

When the people of Israel demanded concessions from the King, the o'd counselors told him to grant them; but the young hetspars dictated an insolent reply. The consequences were that ten tribes were lest. Our rulers made no concessions, and war followed With the greatest carnestness wice men ex borted the Government to avoid any chance of collision, but the collision came. Our rulers thought strength better than wisdom, and they don't seem to be cured of that mistalic The more success they have the more confifidence they feel in their strength until they feel a contempt for concession or compromise. They don't seek concession and compromise, but count on effecting their purpose by metsures of vengeance.

We make no apology for this rebellion. I is idle to talk to lis authors. War they sough and began; for without blood secession won'd die, and they knew it. Their hope to preduce permanent alienation between the two the troussers. sections of the Union was in war. As the corffict was not avoided, force was a necessity, and it is still a necessity. The fear is it will remain a necessity. Destruction is not rectoration. Dispersion of armies installs power; but how long shall it be employed to accomplish its work? According to experience, resistance remains as long as mere force is employed.

All force can do is to make off citualties for peace, and has it not done enough? The conviction is wide-spread now that the original inal object of the war-a restoration of the Union-is possible now, if it were honestly sought for; but that other objects are in view, chi dren. and a settlement will not be sought for er accepted unless these objects are seemed first. Instead of pursuing the real substantial good, we are to waste time and tressure and blood on other purposes.

Mr. McGee, the brilliant Irishman of Canada, has been arousing the terrors of the Kanucks and Bluenoses lately in a most alarinleg manner. To read over arrays of what he says, one would suppose a boiling volcano of ficry zeal in this country to acquire the sterile lands and inhospitable shores of benighted British America. Et Dorado or the Elysian Fields one would judge were bleak deserts compared with the land of premise on our northern border. Of course such a mighty tornado as sweeps over our country might be supposed to des's some waves of turbulence in the faces of our Can adian friends, but it is only froth and feamnot the mounting waves of a whelming ccean. He need not apprehend much danger from New England, where, he says, the most popular scheme would be the lavasion of Carada. Those States of rum and nutmes don't propose to invide anybody just nownot even the Southern States, except under compulsion.

The States generally only want to be let alone by our cousins, and we will promise to let them alone severely. They may harbor slaves or cvil latentions, or believe as much of the rant of the eloquent orator as they please, so they confine their language and acts to their own business. If he would only tell his Govcrnment these things he would cure them of that bellef he says they have that danger is brewing to the Canadians in this war-worn country. If there is that necessity which be urges of putting the militla on a "better footing," for goodness sake furnish them with new shoes all round and let them go home comfortably to their wives. Winter is coming on and a cosy seat by the fire will be be: ter than handling a cold gun-barrel on the icy shores of the lakes looking for an enemy that never came, when their very noses would the northwest corner of the Philadelphia naset an example of running. Don't take bread from chi'dren's mouths in that way to invest in cold iron or cornetalk militia. We do have a fanatical belief, as Mr. McGee says, in our own institutions, but bless him, we would not drag the thlevlag colouists from their wives and warm beds to force them on to them. Better let us alone. Let Mr. McGee bank rather on the frigid temperature of his climate than on more flery weapons. That is his best defense. If we were to attempt to force them into our Union it would be as foolish as his brother Irishman, who was found in his tried by court martial, and found guilty of thirt on a dead snowny winter night, holding a big bull-dog by the ears, with the avowed intention of "freezing the beast to death." If we are not injured we will do no lujury, Canada is more apt to come to us than we

This is a view of the subject the orater has not looked at. The thunderer of the Times, if its thunder is ever heard in that wintry climate, says, if Canada wanis to go, let her elide. We think our Canadian friends are on the par with the girl who resolves to LATE NEWS FROM THE SOUTH. reject a man before she has any clear certainty that he will give her an opportunity. It is best not to be hasty, or one might be ridiculous.

We beg that Mr. McGce will not be alarmed at New England, and we hope he will not intimidate our country by the extraordinary appropriation of oue million hard dollars to train 60 the militie. If such terrible threats are persisted in, our government, in self-defense, will have to allow one or two counties in Maine or Blood!" "Bread or Peace!" and like in or Michigan to raise a force to go over and exciptions. They were attacked by a company Canada until the rebellion is over. It have to allow one or two counties in Maire occupy Canada until the rebellion is ever. It on the day the last copy paid for is sent. This would be an awful thing on our soldiery, though-their toes would get so cold; and we hope more peaceful continents will prevail.

Covernment in this country has been rapidly simplified since the war began. What with the State Governments and their checks and counter cheeks, and the Federal Government and its, it used to be what Senator Douglas well characterized as a "complex system of Government." He, however, never contemplated to the full extent the great chauges which a war would produce, and how very simple it would become. All that useless lumber called the Constitution has been set aside. The Judiciary, which used to be the greatest advantage. Operating upon the inmost dignified branch of the Government, has been quietly turned over to the antiquarians, and with them, of course, the laws. The State Governments, out of which grow so many vexed questions, have been as quietly nullimovement alike sectional in the other part of lied. Nov, any one can understand our Goverument. It consists in its widest sense of the maxlm that the President can do no wrong He has authority to do just as he pleases with the lives and fortunes of the people. We certainly have paid a heavy price to crush the rebellien, and if sacrifices entitle us to success, we certainly deserve it. It will, doubtless, come, and cannot come too soon to effect > (ar exchanges are filled with corre spoudence speaking of the number of decriers from the rebel army. Minutely examining these premises, the body of the murdered man was found on Sunday morning, between two outhouses, with the skull smashed in several places, sufficient to have caused instant death. The body had evidently been dragged thither, as it was particily concealed by a large pile of weeds which had been thrown over it. His jockets were empty, which, as it is positively known that he had a large quartity of money on his person, shows conclusively that he was waylaid and murdered. The place where the body was found was within a few hundred yards of Mr. De Puy's dwelling. Eight persons, among whom are several notorious women, have been ar lows:

The artillery fire on the work will be kept up until the troops meant the parapet, and will then cease at a given signal.

The assault will be in three columns, as follows:

right in front, in the trenches, in rear of the first column, will debouch upon the beach by regiments, pass the sea front of the fort, flic the north and west faces, regiment after regiment, as they gain the requisite distances.

Third—A column of one brigade, left in front, will follow behind the second column, and deploy across the Island in rear of Fort Wagner, facing Commings' Point, with skirmishers well out in front.

II. The guards of the trenches will be held in reserve at their appropriate stations. The balance of the infantry force of Gen. Terry's command will be kept under arms, from and after eight o'clock in the morning, near the Beacon House. The batteries of field artille-

INSIDE VIEW OF FORT WAGNER. The scene which presents itself to the eye of a visitor at Fort Wagner this morning is one of atter wrock and ruin. The only lamiture of the room was a table made of rough boards. One or two rough coffias were there, whether empty or not I did not endeavor to ascertain. A row of shelves on citar side of the main envauce contained a number of shot and shell of va-rious calibers. The flor was strewn with papers, old rags, pieces of greasy bacon and other filth which, in ordinary chaps, finds has woy to the sinks. Beyond Fort Wagner the ground seems to who fell in the defense of that place. There are a number of grows in the rear of the banquers. Here also are several dead horses and mules, swellen with noxious gases, and attracting to the spot myriads on myriads of files. A little further on are several boles oug la the sand for shelter to the troops, much like the fiddlers and sand crabs with which the ground is thronged.

THE SUPPLINDER OF SUMTER DEMANDED. Admiral Dahlgren has dispatched a ting of ruce to demand of General Beauregard a sur-ender of Fort Sumter. If not complied with, the Admiral threatens to move up at once with all his irou chids and engage it. He may batter down its rains about the ears of the garrison and compet them to haul down their flag. It is impossible further to disable or more completely to destroy that work. General Beauregard's answer has not been received. A messenger from the flagship, however, states that the officer who must the flag of trace promised a reply within the next teur heurs. In the meanthme he notified the beat to move faither down the channel, as the Suilivan's Island batteries were about to open upon Gregg and Wagner.

THE FEELING AMONG OFFICERS AND MEN. Last evening, in issning his orders for the norning, General Gillmore called the reglacental communeders about him, and in a few well-chosen words explained to each of them the part he was expected to perform. The movements of the enemy were just in season to avoid certain capture, and there is, naturally enough, a considerable degree of disappointment at his escape. Nevertheless, a bloosless victory serves our cause quite as well as it our best men had been slaughtered in the charge. Our clions fairly entitle us to Wagner and Grorg, not with standing the boast of Beauregard, a few days since, that they were imprognable. By evacuating them in darkness last night, he tackily acknowledged General Gillmore's ability to take them, and this testimony to the irresistable power of our ell-chosen words explained to each of them this testimony to the irresistible power of our coginecting operations, is to us for miore satistactory than the deathy-bought glory of a successful assault.

HONORABLE MENTION. General Gillmore's Order No. 66 has hith-erto prevented me from mention or the names of division and post commanders. I in front, in the trenches, in rear of the column, will debouch upon the beach by sents, pass the sea front of the fort, illed to the left, and mount the parapet of orth and west faces, regiment attentions. still his second in command. The spirit with which he has labored from the beginning of this campaign entitles him to the respect and admiration of the country. Caring nothing for himsetf, he has worked diligently, day and night, for the success of our cause. The same may be said of Colonel J. W. Turner, who, in addition to his onerous duties as chief of General Gillmore's staff, has probably contibuted more than any other man to our success. The location of our batteries and the direction of their are have been almost wholly under his supervision.

DESCRIPTION OF THE CAPTURED STRONGHOLD.

Fort Wagner is an enclosed earthwork, built across Morris Island, three-fourtus of a mile south of Cummings' Point, being the place of greatest width north of the Beacon ilouse, i. e., two hundred and seventy-five yerds from high tide to creek or marsh. One hundred yards to the south of this fort the leland narrows on account of the marsh setting in from the west side to twenty yards at high tide, and about one hundred and fifty had as a low water. These facts make the high tide, and about one nuncred and may a da at low water. These facts make the site of Fort Wagner one of the strongest natural positions for defense on Morris Island. The length of crest is 760 yards. Except that occupied by guns, it is arranged for ausketry defense throughout. Even the rears of the traverses have benquets. From the amount of puffing which comes over the wires from Washington, the Secretary of the Treasury is combining a grand mouopoly of hanking—engraving, paper-making and printing, all to be done or controlled "in the Treasury building." Paper-making, engraving, etc., are new vocations for the Treasury Department, and, in state of the puffing, not a success there, judging from the new series of 5 20 bonds just issued, which the New York papers justly criticise as noticeably inferior to the previous series done by regular engravers.

State Fair-Fourth Day. If those who feel an abiding interest in the success of all enterprises that benefit the city of Lon av lie were charrined at the spare attenda en at the Fair on previous days, yester day their spirits must have rose with exultation At an early hour the streets were throng d with m n, women and children, all bound for the Fair Grounds. So great, indeed, was the crowd that in the passing to and fro there was a crush of skirts and a smash of crinoline. We heard the crowd variously estimated at from six thousand to eight thou said pers na. We believe the number ex ceeded even the cutside calculation. Indeed such an attendance, taking all things into consideration, has not been witnessed since Gray Engle and Wagner pranced together in the same ring some years ago The immense amphithea er was crowded and a large number of ladies were there, who braved the storm

In the ring for saddle stallions, four years old and upwards, Mr. Logan Rully, of Woodford county, took both the premium and certhicate with his excellent stallion, Star of Denmark, who is, by the by, one of the finest stallious we have ever seen exhibited in the Fair Grounds. A number of excellent judges, who have visited the different fairs, remarked that this celebrated stallion was one of the tinest saddle horses that they had ever seen. Mr. Raily took several other premiums, a witnessed.

Mr. E. Dorsey exhibited in the ring a number of colls by Green Mountain Black Hawk, which were the finest lot of animals that it has ever been our pleasure to witness. They were awarded a complimentary preminm.

The entries for the different premiums offered yesterday were large, and the competition was lively. We annex the premiums awarded: HARNESS HORSES.

The two engineers, James Baldwin and Frank Dorris, also deserve great redit credit for their indomnitable energy through all trying scenec. The particulars of the accident, as furnished by her crew, are as follows:

When about five niles above Columbus, fire was discovered in her hold near her water-wheel beam. As soon as possible, the bout was rounded to, landing on the Missouri shore, about three miles and a half above Columbus. She was there made fast and all persons on board landed. The flames were then bursting out of the after hatches and scuttle. The stages were immediately launched, and the horses on the forward guards were out loose and driven ashore. The smoke in the deck room at that time, being so dense, as to preclude the possibility of any person going aft that way one of the men (the deck sweeper), swam around to the stern of the hoat and cut the horses loose on the stern of the hoat and ent the horses loose on the st room at that time, being so dense, as to precide the possibility of any person going aft that way, one of the men the deck sweeper), swam around to the stern of the hoat and cut the horses loose on the after guards. The hatches were immediately buttoned down and steam turned into the hold. After several ineffectual attemps, the rudder hold was thaily stopped by quilts. This was done by Captain McGinnis. The stoam and exclusion of air seemen! for a time to smother the fire. The rew then proceeded to remove the furniture, bag gage, and deck load. They sent to Columbus and procurred the aid of the steamer W. W. Crawford, to take up some fifty negroes and a guard for the horses. They arrived about half-past six a M. All of that time the crew spared no exertion to save the deck load. About half-past six the steamer Emma (side-wheel) and War Eagle cameaing side, and gave both their crews to finish the nuloiding of the deck load, which was concluded by 12 o'clock. The Emma then pulled at the unities we was laying straight along the shore. It was then consided to scuttle her—as the only means of saving the boat. The lower deck by this time having become so hot that it was impossible to her main on them any length of time. PROSPECTUS.

THE UNDERSIGNED PROPOSE TO PUBLISH IN Louisville, Ky., weekly, a Rei gious Family Newspaper, to he styled as above.

The present and prospective condition of the Presty, terias Churcu renders the existence of such a paper in the slocality an Indispensable necessity. Indeed, there has never been at use in all our part history as a Church, when a truly emervative Family Newspaper was so imperatively demanded and we have evidence to belic, e that a desire for such a paper is becoming very general, and prowing stronger in the bearts of our good people. We have reached a crisis when the Church feels that she can dispense with it no longer. We feel, too, that the time has come when the providence of God demands of as that we should make the effort.

The undersigned, under a deep sense of their obligations to God and line Church, have determined to begin this good work. But we are well aware that there are great and serious difficulties in our way—such as will involve rick, labor and sacrince, with no other hope of reward, at present, that the felt co., adousness of doing good. We do, therefore, most earnest by and confidently appeal to our brethern for help. We do to their will speak the will stand by and allow us to go Into the strugkle aione. Give us your earnest co-operation—not for our sake, but for yourselves, your churches, and families. Let every pastor, and elder, and member of the Church, feel that he is our awant, and put forth a prompt and vigorous effort, and seend, as at once a long list of subscribers.

It is our purpose to furnish to the Church a religious newspaper of a high order, mainly devoted to the luter-ested of the first a Kinadom, and the qoot flue and polity. PROSPECTUS.

ners, pur purpose to furnish to the Church a religion per of a high order, mainly devoted to the lute Christ's Kingdom, and the doctriues and poli adve.
We shall try to enforce upon the consciences of our readers the duties arising out of the various relations of life, such as arc recognized by the word of thod.
A hrief summary of enersi Intelligence, with matters of interest touching Agriculture, Science, I terature and Education, will be inserted in each number.
Special arrangements have been made to obtain for the Childreo's Department something that will instruct and please them. he Childreo's Department sourching
